Vision

The College of Business Administration is to be recognized as a leader in business education.

Mission

The College of Business Administration prepares students to contribute to a dynamic global economy and diverse workforce as well-educated, responsible business professionals by continuously improving its teaching, research and service.

Values

The College of Business Administration supports the Nicholls creed, affirming "values that promote citizenship, concern for self and others, and the desire for a better world," and embraces as its core values:

DIVERSITY: We respect differences among members of society by providing a nurturing and tolerant environment.

EXCELLENCE: We strive to achieve the highest quality in all endeavors. We strive for excellence in teaching, research, and service, and empowerment through learning.

INTEGRITY: We strive to be fair and truthful in all instances.

LEADERSHIP: We are good stewards and representatives of the university because we value our collective role as a regional leader and model for all we serve.

RESPECTFULNESS: We commit to the customs and amenities of a civil society. We respect the rights of others and are responsive to the needs and interests of our constituents.

RESPONSIBILITY: We are responsible for our actions. We adhere to the doctrine of individual accountability in all our activities and contributions.

Accreditation

The College of Business Administration is accredited at the undergraduate and graduate levels by the AACSB International (The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business).

Stakeholders

The undergraduate student base is composed of traditional and nontraditional students primarily from the Southeastern Louisiana region. Students in the baccalaureate degree programs are generally first generation college students from the region immediately surrounding Nicholls - over 90% enter as graduates from high schools in the nine-parish (county) area surrounding the university. Two parishes alone account for 57% of the enrollment. There is approximately equal gender representation among the students in these programs. Traditional students under the age of 25 comprise 75% of baccalaureate enrollment, and 80% are full-time. The graduates of the four-year degree programs are primarily employed by businesses in Louisiana.

The graduate student base is comprised of a more geographically diverse student population which includes over 20% from countries other than the United States. Seventy percent of the students in this 33-hour program are from an eight-parish area surrounding the university. France supplies the single largest number of international students, largely because of exchange programs with several French business schools. Approximately 60% of the graduate students are males, and 60% of the students are attending part-time. The typical graduate locates in Southeast Louisiana, although a significant number of graduates locate outside the state, and international students generally return to their home countries.

The employer community is comprised of retail, service, wholesale, manufacturing, and construction concerns operated by individuals from eclectic ethnic and gender backgrounds. Petroleum related industries and shipbuilding operations are common. Employers are largely regional but with increasing national and international activities. The employer community is represented by an Executive Advisory Board.

The faculty is comprised of over thirty-eight full-time, qualified individuals. These persons are actively engaged in intellectual development activities of various kinds and are involved with professional and academic organizations. That involvement is supported by the College. The faculty members believe in providing excellence in education with a personal touch.
