

Internet Explorer 8: Compatibility View

Students taking Blackboard based assessments using Internet Explorer version 8 will be presented with an image similar to the one below, where the Elapsed Time: display is stretched over the exam window, covering up the submit button.

The solution is for students to turn on "Compatibility View." This is a feature only in version 8 of Internet Explorer. The Compatibility View button is located immediately to the right of the Address Bar (see below).

Compatibility View must be turned on BEFORE beginning the assessment. Once turned on, a text balloon will appear similar to the one in the image below, indicating Compatibility View is running.
