Nicholls Players: "A Lesson before Dying"

Nicholls Players presents a production directed by Daniel Ruiz, written by Romulus Linney and the Southern Writers' Project, and based on a novel by Ernest J. Gaines. In a small Cajun community in 1940s Louisiana, a young black man is about to go to the electric chair for murder. A white shopkeeper died during a robbery gone bad; though the young man on trial had not been armed and had not pulled the trigger, in that time and place, there could be no doubt of the verdict or the penalty, and no doubt a lesson before dying. A post-performance reception sponsored by Nicholls SPA will follow. Call (985) 448-4586 for more information.

Rosary Hartel O'Neill

Playwright, director, teacher, mother and the author of fourteen plays, O'Neill takes readers into the past with her writings – the 19th and 20th centuries – times that have been highly romanticized. O'Neill has the ability to make these times understandable and easy to relate to for modern readers. Her portrayals of such famous people as Edgar Degas and Kate Chopin allow readers to witness these artists' commitment to their talent. Bollinger Memorial Student Union, LeBijou Theater
