

One Hundred Thirteenth Commencement

Saturday, December 16, 2023

Stopher Gymnasium
Nicholls State University
Thibodaux, Louisiana

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Graduate:

Congratulations on reaching this milestone in your academic journey! As the President of Nicholls State University, I am thrilled to extend my heartfelt congratulations to each and every one of you on your graduation day.

This year is particularly special as we not only celebrate your achievements but also mark the 75th anniversary of our beloved institution. Over the past seven and a half decades, Nicholls has stood as a beacon of not only knowledge but also opportunity for the people of our region – in some cases reshaping the trajectory of futures for families of first-generation students. Today, as we confer degrees upon another class of graduates, we reflect on the rich history and enduring legacy that has defined our university.

To the Class of 2023, you have not only excelled academically but have also contributed to the vibrant tapestry of our university community. Your dedication, passion and resilience have not gone unnoticed, and we are confident that you will carry the values instilled in you during your time here into the next chapter of your lives.

As you embark on this new journey, remember the lessons learned during your time here, the friendships forged, and the challenges overcome. Whether you pursue further education, enter the workforce, or contribute to your communities in other ways, know that you are well-prepared to make a positive impact.

Our 75th anniversary is a testament to the enduring spirit of Nicholls, and you, our graduates, are an integral part of this legacy. As you go forth, be proud of your alma mater, and carry with you the values of excellence, integrity, and a commitment to lifelong learning.

We invite you to stay connected with your alma mater and participate in the many events and traditions, as you are now part of a vast network of accomplished alumni.

Once again, congratulations on your remarkable achievement. As you turn the page to the next chapter of your lives, remember that Nicholls will always be a place you can call home. We look forward to hearing about your future endeavors and the positive impact you will undoubtedly have on the world.

Congratulations and Geaux Colonels,

ACADEMIC DRESS

The distinctive dress associated with academic processions and convocations dates from the Middle Ages when students of the oldest European and English universities wore woolen and fur garments for warmth in drafty stone buildings. Most of the scholars were clerics in holy orders, and they wore cloaks to which were attached hoods that could be pulled up to cover their tonsured heads. Robes were adopted from both ecclesiastical and civilian sources. These early scholars selected the hood as an article of apparel to distinguish the various university degrees by color, trimming, or binding.

The use of academic dress in the United States has been continuous since colonial days. However, a uniform system was adopted by most institutions of higher learning near the end of the 19th century when an intercollegiate commission met in New York. This code of dress has become standard for most American colleges and universities.

In the United States, black is the traditional color for academic gowns, although some institutions authorize holders of their doctorates to wear the colors of the institution. The associate's and bachelor's robes are black with long pointed sleeves. The master's is black with oblong sleeves which are closed; the arm comes through a slit in the sleeve. The doctor's robe has long, full sleeves, velvet facing on the front and at the neck, and three velvet bars across each of the sleeves. The velvet on the doctor's robe may be black, or it may be the color which symbolizes the degree held.

The usual cap, proper for all degrees, is the black mortarboard, although some colleges use the beret. Tassels, usually black, are worn over the left front quarter of the cap. Holders of the doctorate may wear tassels of gold thread.

The most distinctive feature of American academic dress is the hood, which indicates by its color and design the wearer's degree and the institution that conferred the degree. Hoods vary in length according to the specific degree. The bachelor's hood is about three feet long, and that of the master's degree is slightly longer, while the doctoral hood is long and colorful with broad panels. The hood is lined with the color of the college or university granting the degree. It is faced with a color indicating the subject of specialization. A partial list of colors associated with the various disciplines follows:

Agriculture	Maize	Library Science	Lemon
Arts, Letters, Humanities	White	Music	Pink
Business Administration	Drab(Pale Taupe)	Medicine	Green

Degrees with Honors

Students graduating with a baccalaureate degree and earning a 4.0 grade point average are awarded the President’s Medal of Honor.

The baccalaureate degree is awarded summa cum laude, with highest honor, to any student whose official cumulative grade point average is at least 3.900; magna cum laude, with great honor, if the official cumulative grade point average is 3.700 to 3.899; and cum laude, with honor, if the official cumulative grade point average is 3.500 to 3.699.

The University Honors Award is bestowed upon students who have completed the advanced curriculum of the University Honors Program, which includes opportunities for international study and for original research contribution to the chosen field of study. Recipients of the University Honors Award have completed at least 24 hours of honors coursework, including public defense of Honors thesis research.

Graduate students who earn an overall grade point average of 4.000 in all courses pursued toward their graduate degree are recognized for this achievement as honor graduates.

* The asterisk before a name identifies members of the Nicholls chapter of the national Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi. Academically outstanding juniors, seniors, and graduate students from all disciplines are eligible for election to membership.

★ The star before a name identifies students who successfully complete the curriculum of the University Honors Program. These graduates wear the red-ribboned University Honors Award medal.

Program Disclaimer

Appearance of a name in this program is presumptive evidence of graduation but is not regarded as conclusive. Students whose names are listed twice in this program are receiving two degrees. Due to the late applications, the names of some graduates who are graduating are not listed in the program.
